G2 Systems Announces Global ‘Smart-Sourcing’ of Geneva® Services with Leading IT Consulting Firm GFT

New Overseas Alliance to Enable a Flexible, Adaptive, Cost-Effective Delivery of Geneva Implementation and Support Services

New York and London — September 20, 2010 — G2 Systems, LLC, an innovative software and consulting firm specializing in investment management, accounting and operations systems for the alternative investment community, and GFT, a leading global IT consulting firm specializing in the design and build of middle and back-office solutions for the financial services industry, announced today the launch of a new comprehensive, cost-effective service for Geneva implementation and support services.

“Our Clients are looking for a high-performance and lower cost solution to address their technology and operational needs in support of their Geneva portfolio management and fund accounting system,” said George Michaels, founder and CEO of G2 Systems. “Financial services firms don’t want to choose between quality of service, rapid delivery, and price; they rightly want all three.”

“By partnering with GFT, one of the leading IT consulting firms with global delivery capabilities, and over 20 years of experience in delivering finance IT solutions, we can provide an unmatched comprehensive and innovative service,” added Michaels.

“We are excited about the partnership with G2 Systems and the new joint offering providing our Clients with portfolio accounting, operational expertise and deep knowledge of Geneva as part of our smart-sourcing strategy,” said Joan Carles Fonoll, Managing Director of GFT U.S. Operations.

“Current service providers lack the capabilities and expertise to consistently engage in large-scale Geneva implementations,” said Fonoll. “Through this new offering, we jointly combine expertise on-site with scalability through our near-shore and off-shore delivery centers in Brazil and Spain at a lower total cost to the Client.”
